

MIAMI VALLEY FOLK DANCERS

The Miami Valley Folk Dancers is a group of Miami Valley residents interested in international folk dancing. Members, whose ages range from the teens to the eighties, meet regularly for dancing in a friendly, relaxed atmosphere. Guests are always welcome. The group is sponsored by the city of Dayton.

The group's activities include:

A. Thursday Evening programs

7:00 - 8:00 Orientation class - for all members, but especially for newcomers. There is no formal curriculum as the teaching is tailored to the needs of those participating.

8:00 - 9:00 Programmed dancing with a different member in charge of each week's program

9:30 - 10:00

9:00 - 9:30 Teaching with the instruction done by members

10:00 - close Request dancing (member's choices)

B. Ethnic Sunday afternoon programs

2:30 - 7:30 on the second Sunday of each month - Each program centers on a national or regional theme and the activities include teaching, request dancing, and dinner

C. Workshops

Approximately two per year, spring and fall

These are weekend programs, each led by a recognized teacher of folk dancing. Many out-of-towners attend these programs which, in addition to teaching, include request dancing and dinner

Anyone interested in folk dancing is eligible for associate membership. After 20 sessions of associate membership and concurrent participation in club-sponsored instructions (unless the associate member is already an accomplished folk dancer), full membership is accorded. Dues for associates are 50¢ per session and for full members they are $1.00 per month.

The Thursday Evening and Ethnic Sunday programs are held at

Michael Solomon Pavilion
2917 Berkley
Dayton, Ohio

The Pavilion is the building on the east side of the parking lot for the Community Golf Course which is just north of West Dorothy Lane in Kettering.
