Subject: 50 years of Folk Dancing

Your readers may be interested in knowing that the Miami Valley Folk Dancers will be celebrating their 50th Anniversary with a workshop and dance on March 29-30, 2003 at the Michael Solomon Pavilion. In anticipation of this event perhaps you would consider running an article about us and our 50 years of celebrating ethnic diversity in our community through the teaching, demonstrating, and enjoyment of folk dancing. With over 80 members and growing our club draws members from all walks of life and many different cultural backgrounds. We liken ourselves to a mini United Nations in both our membership and the focus of our activities and community involvements: to promote cultural awareness through the music and dance of other countries. Our upcoming 50th anniversary workshop will highlight the dances of Scotland and the Balkans. Recent workshops have introduced us to Israeli, Romanian, Greek and Scandinavian dances.

Last summer we were featured in an article in the CultureWorks publication, The Living Arts (See attachment.) For further information you may access our website at www.geocities.com/mvfolkdancers or contact me at 885-5170.

Thank you for considering a feature article on our group and our 50 years of folk dancing.

Sincerely,
Dolores Brooks
Secretary, Miami Valley Folk Dancers

Dear Mr. Morris:

The Miami Valley Folk Dancers are celebrating their 50th Anniversary with a week-end workshop and dance on March 29-30, 2003 at the Michael Solomon Pavilion. As secretary of this organization I thought you might be interested in writing an article about us and our 50 years of celebrating ethnic diversity in our community through the teaching, demonstrating, and enjoyment of folk dancing. With over 80 members and growing, our club draws dancers from all walks of life and many different cultural backgrounds. We liken ourselves to a mini United Nations in both our membership and the focus of our activities and community involvements: to promote cultural awareness and appreciation through the music and dance of other countries. Our upcoming 50th anniversary workshop will highlight the dances of Scotland and the Balkans. Recent workshops have introduced us to Israeli, Romanian, Greek, and Scandinavian dances.

Last summer we were featured in an article in the Culture Works publication, The Living Arts. (See attachment). You may also be interested in accessing our website at www.geocities.com/mvfolkdancers for further information or you may contact me at 885-5170.

Thank you for considering our anniversary as a feature in your newspaper.

Sincerely,
Dolores Brooks
