Balkan Cabaret is a five piece orchestra featuring singer Mary Sherhart, performing music of Serbia, Croatia, Macedonia, Bosnia and Bulgaria. They formed in 2001 when Sherhart, acclaimed Balkan vocalist, started working with the folk dance orchestra Nisava: Joe Finn, fiddle and clarinet; Michael Lawson, accordion and vocals; Rich Thomas, bass and vocals, as well as new band member Steve Ramsey, tambura and guitar. As individual musicians they have been involved with this music for the past 20 years.

They perform Balkan standards heard in cafes and cabarets, many going back over 50 years. Their emphasis is on an evening of companionship with friends and family, eating, listening to the old songs and dancing to their spirited and dynamic dance tunes. Everyone is invited. Families are welcome. No partners are needed. No experience necessary.

See www.balkancabaret.com for more information about the group.

As we have just confirmed the groups appearance today, we have yet to settle some of the details regarding any food, drink, etc.

We will let you know as more information becomes available.

You can check www.daytonfolkdance.com/mvfd for up to the day information.

Other things you should know:

The Michael Solomon Pavilion, known for its beautiful wood dance floor, is not air-conditioned. However, one side of the building is opened to screens during the summer, and there are lots of ceiling fans and floor fans. We encourage you to dress cool and lots of water is available.

Smoking is not permitted in the building.
